

Gallery Invigilators

Victoria Miro is looking for Gallery Invigilators for the forthcoming exhibition at our Islington space, from late May to the end of July 2016.

Invigilators will be working closely with the Front Desk team as it manages the gallery's day-to-day operations. The Front Desk team will guide the invigilators as to how to appropriately welcome and offer information to the exhibition's audiences.

The invigilator position will include, but not be limited to, the following responsibilities:

- Greeting visitors and tour groups
- Providing information on the exhibition, the space, and the gallery at large
- Surveying the gallery space and artwork, especially during busy times at the gallery
- Ability to work on weekends and during special gallery events

This is a unique opportunity to work on and experience the dynamism of a widely celebrated artist's exhibition.

The gallery is looking for enthusiastic and hard-working individuals who thrive in a lively environment. Invigilators must have a keen interest in contemporary art, as well as good interpersonal skills, and exhibit an acute attention to detail.

Prior invigilation or visitor experience within the arts is encouraged but not required.

Please submit your CV with a brief cover letter by email no later than 22 April 2016 to:
